The function The function value. i.e. the result of applying the function to its argument The argument given to the function